NAZARÉ

The long sandy half-moon shaped beach, which is also the town's sea front, is known for its grandeur and for the brightly-coloured awnings that decorate the white sandy beaches, contrasting with the blue of the water.

This is the beach in Portugal that retains the more colorful fishing traditions, and it's not uncommon to encounter fishmongers who still wear the traditional seven skirts.

Facing the sea on the right, we will see an impressive headland. This is Sitio, which provides one of the most famous views of the Portuguese coast. It is a 318 meter rock face with a sheer drop to the sea, and is reached on foot by the bravest, or by going up the funicular.

In this fishing village you will have the opportunity to see the spot where Garret Mc-Namara set a new world record in 2011, surfing a 90ft wave, and where he claimed to have broken his own record in January 2013, catching a 100ft wave

For the lunch break the fishing village of Nazaré will come as the perfect spot, since the fresh grilled fish and amazing views of the Ocean should be enough to reenergize you until the end of the day.

COIMBRA TOUR

Coimbra is the most important city to the south of the Douro river.

Coimbra was the setting for the forbidden love of Dom Pedro I (1357-67) and Dona Inês, a lady at court. Inês was executed at the orders of the king Dom Afonso IV, who saw in this romance the danger of Portugal being submitted to the rule of Castile. An inspiration to poets and writers, their story still forms a major part of the city's rich heritage.

Coimbra was the capital of Portugal during the Middle Ages, but it was the Renaissance that transformed the city into a place of knowledge, when Dom João III (1521-57) decided to move the University to the city on a definitive basis, whilst at the same time numerous colleges were created to provide an alternative to the official form of teaching.

- COIMBRA:
- Coimbra University - XVI century - UNESCO World Heritage

  - St<sup>a</sup> Cruz Church - D. Afonso Henriques and D. Sancho I Tombs
